

Element E:

E1:

Our project uses applications of engineering to make a solution for our stakeholder's problem. Our project utilizes the ability to compact and store objects using as little space as possible.

E2:

Our decision for the design measurements were influenced by engineering and mathematical requirements because of the size and the height of the calculator. We also had to take into account the stability and longevity of the item, applying more engineering to the project.