

Element F: Consideration of Design Viability:

We have our fan and now we just need to create the adapter, hose, and control system. Our envisioned design seems quite feasible. Once the adapter is done we can attach it and then attach the hose to the adapter. Because of how long this project is taking we are going to leave the control system for another project.