

Element G

I designed my prototype based upon past ones, with a water bottle, bottom cut open, and materials layered on the inside. I built my prototype pretty easily too, pouring the materials inside. Most things in mine should be testable as its very simple.