

Element G: we did some research and watches videos on how to design one and the majority was PVC pipe and was powered by water pumps. We designed our product with the listed materials in element C.