

Element C:

This list is ranked in order of priority (highest to lowest).

An effective Leopard Toy covers all eight of the following high priority criteria:

- 1) Natasha engages with the toy for at least 30 minutes Explanation: that is the preferred length stated by zookeeper A
- 2) Can withstand 30 pounds of weight Explanation: the food inserted into the bucket will not exceed this amount
- 3) Weighs less than 50 pounds
Explanation: that is how much zookeeper A can comfortably lift
- 4) Must be able to be cleaned with a wipe in 10 minutes or less
- 5) Explanation: because the design is intended for multiple uses, it is important that it can be cleaned quickly and effectively.
- 6) The toy is reusable for at least 7 uses Explanation: for sustainability purposes, we will not have all of our materials be consumed in one sitting.

Lower priority:

- 7) All three leopards can use our apparatus Explanation: the cool cads like to go above and beyond, and they hope to create an apparatus that is suitable for all of the zoo's leopards
- 8) Is ranked above a 6 on the naturally aesthetic survey we hand out Explanation: While a naturally aesthetic background is not necessary, the cool cads believe that it would be optimal for it to look natural within the environment.

NOTES FROM INTERVIEW WITH STAKEHOLDER:

- Natasha weighs 35-39 kg
- Toy will be set up beforehand
- could hang from mesh in the back area
- zookeepers are not inside there with leopard
- has all his teeth and claws
- wire framing in tree where we could maybe put in an eye bolt
- possible to chain something on the top area
- weight limit- if one person (zookeeper A) can hold it
- whole prey are the bulk of their diet
- smell (ex. Coffee grounds) is less enticing to them
- natasha likes puzzles more but is less comfortable out in the enclosure
- very destructive
- heavy duty is a necessity
- current: staff hides food under sleds with branches and trees on top of it
- current: boxes inside of boxes inside of boxes
- more natural or modified look to be approved (not highest priority)
- height limitation- where a ladder could be/ feasible for staff to hang
- natasha likes being challenged and working
- rosa doesn't like to work at all
- in use for as long as possible
- whole prey: rabbits(4lb), guinea pig, small birds, fish, ground meat in icicles
- enticing smell= specific perfumes and aftershave, coffee grounds
- they like baby food
- most common is ground meat but might be hard to use as a reward

-perfumes shouldn't be used on anything they'll eat

-spirals of wood wool

-semi reusable

-fully able to clean

- usage time: 5-45 minutes (ideally 30 minutes)

-multistep process

-chain would be the easiest

-fully reusable would be the best option

-thick manila rope is doable- slightly natural

-thick plastic polymer sled

-wildlife toy box website 3/4-1 inch thick

-pvc to hide stuff

-kids sand boxes

-hard jolly balls

-love to break bamboo

-in use over 24-48 hours

-stay novel

- installation overnight
- use a couple days a week
- increase foraging m
- can be used in the back
- highest priority: increasing time she has to work
- more foraging time
- very intelligent
- more time hunting and looking for food
- something very strong
- more difficult than easy
- it's ok if there's not a 100% success rate
- rose doesn't know enrichment toys as much
- possible to hang over thicker branches

- could cover chain with fire hose
- could stick a paw through, but not a head stuck
- or big enough to get a head in but not stuck
- tongue: 2-3 inches wide can stick it out 8-9 inches
- clean the puzzle with hose and disinfectant
- should be able to completely clean
- like to swat at things and try to get it
- use branches to get even higher
- jump
- 10 feet
- horizontal 10-15 feet
- tree jumping 5-6 feet
- really big things freak them out
- takes time to get used to it
- neutral colors
- aesthetics are not as important
- lowest branch at 6 feet
- 8-10 feet
- 50-75 pounds on mesh

whole prey is once a day very stimulating and they have to work for it natural looking, not required but appreciated

Natasha likes puzzles more likes a challenge

whole rabbit, ~4 pound is her whole prey guinea pig smaller birds
fish occasionally ground meat, can be made into ice cicle rabbit day fave day

most time

they like perfume and coffee grounds can mix both together but food alone is smelly enough

5 minutes to 20 min half an hour, longer preferred less than 24/48 hours a day couple days a week

long long uses is very appreciated

tiger took 4 hours to catch a groundhog one time we are allowed to chain on trees 2x2

chain best thing

smaller than head bigger than paw

or big enough to where head can comfortably come out stick out tongue 8-9 inches hang is good could hang and then have them knock it out they would enjoy they could also go to a higher branch to get to treat vertical is 10 ft horizontal 10-15ft

not too big

8-10ft at apex is highest of tree

40-50 pounds
