Element B: Documentation and Analysis of Current and Prior Design Attempts

Current or Prior Design Attempt #1 - <Churchill Digital Map>

Source

Former Churchill students who completed an online GPS of the school.

Image

There is no available image of this prior attempt.

Details

This attempt included an online interactive map of the school with both the first and second floors of the school. In one corner, there was a drop down menu where students could pick a room to start and a room to end to find the quickest route and directions to that room.

Analysis

The program was unsuccessful because it did not have a very practical design and use, which led to the program expiring after only a couple of years.

Prior Design Attempt #2 - <Churchill On Paper Map>

Source

Someone at the school created a map of both the first and second floors and printed them out for students.

Details

This attempt included a map of the first and second floors of the school that were given to students before their freshman year to help them navigate to their desired destination.

Analysis

This was unsuccessful because it did not allow for proper directions between floors, leading to students getting lost as they were trying to get from the first floor to the second floor and vice versa.
