

Element C: Presentation and Justification of Solution Design Requirements

Based on stakeholder input and research, we established several key design requirements for our organizer. It must be compact yet spacious to maximize limited classroom space. It should feature customizable compartments to accommodate different supplies, from small beads to large paint bottles. Durability is essential, as the organizer will be used daily by multiple students. It should also be visually appealing to align with the creative nature of the art classroom. Additionally, we aim for a sustainable design, incorporating repurposed or recyclable materials where possible to align with the school's environmental goals.
