

We created an original idea and solution to the problem by taking already existing products and ideas and putting them together, such as the mini hoses and PVC to make sure the garden beds get watered. By using a solenoid we can use it to open and close hatches to the pipe to get the water through, then we have a cup that if it fills with enough water, it'll sink down and the whole machine will stop watering.

