Our stakeholder (Mr. Scott) requested a durable and cohesive place to store his calculators. Knowing this, our goal was to make a calculator holder over the past few months that exceeded his expectations. When we showed him our product for the first time, he was very happy. He stated that, “the color palette was great” and “the sections perfectly fit his calculators.” He was extremely grateful that we made this calculator holder for him and he said that “I will definitely be using this over the past few weeks to test how durable it is.”
