

Element L:

Presentation Of Designer's Recommendations

To go even further, having the same design in different parts of the library would provide even more visibility to the librarian; but only if the design is successful. Taking into account what we have done, we believe creating a different backboard for the mirror would improve the image quality because there would not be any wrinkles present.