

Element L: Presentation of Designer's Recommendations:

Here is a picture of the entire system successfully hooked up to the mill. It is capable of blowing debris up to 3 and $\frac{1}{4}$ inches away from the drill bit, allowing for a smoother cut and thus a smoother surface once the project is done. It took a while to make due to the need for innovation in regards to the adapter and maintaining air flow, speed, and pressure.

