

1. The recommendations I would give someone who was also doing this project is to paint the frame before attaching the strings, Measure each string exactly, and to paint the frames before attaching nails. Although this is common sense I would also suggest not storing the art near a vent. This caused us a lot of unnecessary tangles.
2. Improvements to our design could be more even spacing between the mirrors and equal amount of squares on each one. This initially did not seem like something that mattered, however after hanging them up it is clear that they are not perfectly spaced. To fix this next time we could measure in between each square before attaching them. We could also mark the string evenly before attaching any and add a square on each mark.
3. As part of our presentation we are hanging the installation up during the art walk. It will be in the lobby of the art building where students and their friends and families can see it.
