

PART I. Testing, Data Collection, and Analysis

Unfortunately, due to our frequent inability to get a response from the stakeholder, we did not get proper feedback on our prototype. However, we had additionally designed stickers to put on students' lunch in order to create a brand for the school food as requested by the stakeholder. We did receive positive feedback on the designs of said stickers, although we have not had any updates on the potential usage of the design.