Excerpts from Primary Stakeholder interview, related to happiness and enrichment

What are methods of enrichment? - are the current methods sufficient?

- Hard to tell when they are bored but they could use more entertainment
- Live food can be fun for them to chase, but depends on how food motivated they are

What are the processes used to measure the turtles' health and happiness?

- We aren't vets but we know their baselines (weight and eating)
- Change in baselines can lead to calling a Vet
- When they don't eat something is wrong

I shared some references that you can include here. Notes from 10/23 - posted on blackboard. You don't need to do much more than list them and share a one sentence explanation of each source.
